

SIPES DALLAS FIELD TRIP

Come Join Us for A Day in the Field

A Weekend in the Palo Duro Canyon Area Studying the Dockum Group Stratigraphy

May 3rd-5th, 2019

$175/Person Includes Friday Night Reception, Beverages, Saturday Lunch & Dinner

One day (Saturday) in the field with Friday and Saturday nights at the Canyon Holiday Inn Express (Book your room at group rate for SIPES while they last). Participants will pay for their own lodging by calling (806) 655-4445 and ask for SIPES discount. The number of rooms are limited.

Highlights: A Friday night reception at our host hotel with beverages and hors d'oeuvres & Saturday night dinner at Feldman's Wrong Way Diner (Transportation to/from hotel not included).

Geology will include:

TCU professor John Holbrook and his team will be our tour guide. We will be focusing on the Upper Triassic Dockum Group. We will be looking at outcrops and road cuts, starting at the northern portion of the Palo Duro Canyon and ending at the southern end. Dr. Holbrook's team has found that this source of groundwater in west Texas, has some interesting features that include: storm sheet and meandering streams; distributary-type lacustrine deltas (high-constructive elongate deltas); ephemeral and relatively long-lived lakes; and mud flats. Our lunch stop will be at a park in the Canyon.

RESERVATION DEADLINE is April 12th
